2024's most common security threats are directed straight at YOU.

From ransomware, phishing and malware, the human firewall is the most important line of defence against attack.

Join us for a breakfast briefing session where we will enable you to become an active participant in defending against threats within your organisation.

SystemLabs' cyber security experts, Ashley Le Hegarat and John

Gillies, will lead the session.

Be empowered to protect your organisation.

The session will be held at Digital Jersey and will include coffee and pastries from Dandy's.
