Across the trust, corporate services and wealth management sector, firms are facing increasing pressure to modernise, streamline operations and deliver a better experience for their people and clients.

Yet many organisations feel caught between outdated legacy systems, complex migrations and a rapidly consolidating software market.

There is now a better way.

Join us for an exclusive lunchtime launch event at Digital Jersey as we unveil WealthWorks+, the next-generation, fully web-based platform designed specifically for trust and corporate services firms looking for a modern, scalable and flexible alternative.

Jersey has long been at the heart of the WealthWorks client community, making the island the perfect place to introduce this exciting new release. With a strong track record of delivering trusted software solutions to the sector, WealthWorks is now entering its next chapter, combining proven industry expertise with a fresh, future-ready platform.

We are also delighted to introduce the new strategic partnership between WealthWorks and QBIX.

Successful digital transformation is never just about software. It is about people, process, adoption and confidence. By combining the WealthWorks+ platform with the change and digital transformation expertise of QBIX, this partnership is designed to help firms make complicated technology feel simple, practical and human.

Who is this event for?

This event is designed for Jersey-based trust, corporate services and wealth management firms who are exploring how technology can better support their people, clients and future growth.

It is especially relevant for:

- CEOs, managing directors and senior leaders looking for a modern, scalable software alternative
- COOs and operations leaders who want to improve efficiency and reduce manual processes
- Technology and digital transformation leaders reviewing current systems and future platforms
- Client services and relationship leaders focused on improving the client and employee experience
- Compliance, risk and governance professionals who need reliable, secure and sector-specific solutions
- Firms currently using legacy systems and considering what the next step could look like
- Organisations who want to modernise without making transformation feel overwhelming for their teams

Why attend?

This event is for leaders, decision-makers and teams who want to explore what the future of trust and corporate services technology could look like.

You will:

- Get an exclusive first look at WealthWorks+, a fully web-based and scalable platform
- Discover a credible alternative in a rapidly consolidating software market
- Explore how modern technology can support efficiency, growth and better client service
- Learn how close client collaboration continues to shape the WealthWorks roadmap
- Understand how QBIX helps firms bring people on the digital transformation journey
- Join industry peers in discussing key trends, including AI, innovation and the future of the sector

Enjoy lunch while connecting with peers, partners and the WealthWorks team

This is more than a product launch. It is a conversation about choice, progress and the future of technology for Jersey's trust and corporate services industry.

We would be delighted to welcome you to meet the WealthWorks team, connect with QBIX, and be part of the conversation shaping what comes next.

Come and discover how WealthWorks+ can help your organisation move forward with confidence.
