Fertility challenges impact 1 in 6 people of working age, and they don't stop when someone walks through the door to work. Yet conversations around fertility can still feel difficult, leaving employees unsure where to turn and employers unsure how best to help.

Join Tiny Seeds for a free, one-hour webinar bringing together experts in fertility, HR and corporate leadership to explore how workplaces can better support employees navigating fertility challenges.

Whether you're an HR professional, business leader or manager, you'll gain practical insights into:

How fertility challenges can affect employees and their working lives.

What meaningful, fertility-friendly workplace policies and support look like.

How managers can approach conversations with confidence and compassion.

The practical steps your organisation can take to become a Fertility Friendly Workplace.

Monday 30 November 2026 | 11.00am-12.00pm

Hear from:

Chloé Fosse, Head of Operations, Tiny Seeds

Evelina Aghajanyan, HR Director, HSBC Channel Islands and Isle of Man

Melanie Grandfield, Founder, High Tide HR Consultancy

You don't need to have all the answers. But you can make sure your workplace is ready to offer support when it's needed.

It's time to take fertility off mute.
